

---

Many people feel that a woman president(of a big nation or country) would be a great disadvantage. W

Posted by: kathy Nguyen

on Apr 06, 2013

Tagged in: Untagged

The traditions of each country have different ways to believe, who is able to run a country. Many countries believe men have knowledge of politic and war. Compare between men and women decide of politics. What can women can do best for the family? Many people feel that having a woman president for the country would be a big change. In country, they agree for men to rule, because they have more experience on politics and war. Men have more power over decisions they make. Therefore, women have no experience in war; they never went through war before. What do women know about it? In addition, most women stay home taking care of kids. For example, in the United Stated has never had women running for president before Hilary Clinton has some chance because her husband was already president of the Untied Stated. The first woman running for a big country decides. This is a big change for the country and nation. In conclusion, men have more power over war and politics because they are going through more than women. Many women stay home taking care of kids. The result is really high than women went out for war. It is not easy to control a big country. The falling parts of women were the heart. They are not strong enough to be president of the country. PS* This is my essay for class, but I really want to work on my writing, but I need to improve my writing. Please,reading this essay and helping me with the writing.