One absurdity

Life is full of insanity, and with all its absurdities one might think life as a folly, in which humans become comedic actors or clowns, in which our philosophy's mean absolutely nothing. As with existentialism therapy : finding hope and meaning in the world, when in all reality none exist. We give 40 hrs of work a week, and end up poor, they take our social security money as if its theirs to take, to pay other Bills..... (lock-box) So in turn life is an illusion !
