Your smile is worth million Your heart may be in trillion What makes you so unique/ I see you in dreams when not awake You are so dear and near But we have no words from you to hear I always worry for u and fear Let no pain come to you o, dear You stay happy wherever you are You are so near though remain very far You make us cry I don't know why? I wish I had wings to fly? Days are getting on close You may be ready to pose Clad in good suit to tie in nuptials We may all stand to witness your initials I pray God to offer you happy smile You never suffer separation for while You get helping hand when walk for mile Can you preserve your smile not for sake of smile?
